The Vania people are also called Bania or Mahajan. The word Vania is derived from 'Vaniji', which means 'trader' in Sanskrit.

Business, trade, jewellery-making and agriculture are the traditional occupations of the Vania. Floor painting and folk songs represent the Vania's art and culture.

For the salvation of the Vania people and that God may send several Christian workers among them and meet their spiritual and physical needs.

Pray for developmental and literacy programs among the people.
